

- HOME
- Archives
- Contests
- JOIN OUR MAILING LIST
- Store
- Subscribe

You are here: Home -> Gear, November/December 2008 -> MOJAVE AUDIO > MA-201 FET

MOJAVE AUDIO > MA-201 FET

Posted by Brian Threlkeld on October 31st, 2008
2 Comments Printer-Friendly

-
-
-
-
-
-
-

LIST PRICE: $695.00

WEBSITE: MOJAVE AUDIO

If you were stuck on a desert island, what one microphone would you be willing to take with you? I'm obviously assuming that the said island was equipped with a recording studio packed with preamps and all of the other necessary gear. I would be forced to consider the MA-201 fet. I can only imagine Mojave Audio had this in mind when naming its company. They just left out the island part. For those readers who don't indulge in such gear geek fantasy, I will proceed to describe this microphone. Utilizing a military grade FET and low noise resistors, this fixed cardioid pattern condensor microphone has created quite a stir amongst audio enthusiasts. With a frequency response from 20Hz to 20Khz, it is capable of handling just about any acoustic application. A professional mic at this price is hard to beat.

Click Here to WIN products from our Danger Gear Contest!

Comments

- Phoebe Blume said:

Thank you so much for considering me in your contest to win this beautiful guitar!!!

-November 1st, 2008 at 10:26 pm

